Don't be fooled by "notarios" or scammers. Find a reputable immigration attorney or legal services provider in your area.

Do you have an upcoming immigration court date or have you been ordered to report to the immigration authorities (ICE)? If so, you should

- Immediately get advice from a trustworthy source such as a reputable immigration attorney or non-profit agency.
- If you don't already have an attorney, click here for a list of local nonprofit agencies that provide legal assistance for no or low cost.

Remember. Don't go to immigration court alone, and don't rely on "notarios" or anyone else who isn't licensed, makes false promises, or charges excessive fees.
